19. Please describe the extent of your writing experience:

I have several prior experiences with scientific writing across a wide range of subjects. I have contributed as an author on an original research manuscript, published in The Journal of Physiology, which evaluated the energetic cost of gait asymmetry. As part of a scholarly concentration in Public Health, I wrote a narrative review of Diabetes Self-Management Education at Student-Run Free Clinics and presented my work at a medical education conference. I have written several case report abstracts accepted for poster presentation at national conferences through AAPM&R, AAP, and AMSSM. During medical school, I contributed to the Wellness section of the student newsletter.

20. Please describe the extent of your expertise on the topic(s) you have selected:

During residency, I have received extensive didactic education and clinical training in the management of patients with musculoskeletal pathology covered in the selected topics. I have been fortunate to spend several months working alongside physiatrists with clinical expertise in musculoskeletal medicine, many of whom are also board-certified in Sports Medicine.
